

Dr. Allan Wade

Centre for Response-Based Practice

Allan lives on Vancouver Island where he works as a family therapist and researcher with a background in micro analysis of face to face communication and language in use.

Allan is best known for developing a Response Based approach to therapy with victims of violence, in collaboration with Linda Coates and Nick Todd. He provides clinical supervision and training to Therapists, Police, Child Protection Workers, Magistrates, Lawyers, and Child Advocates. He also consults with Policy Makers on the development of coordinated community responses to violence.

Dr Wade is a founding member of the Centre of Response-Based Practice and works alongside Drs. Linda Coates, Cathy Richardson and Shelley Bonnah in Canada: <http://responsebasedpractice.com>
